SIR,

Dated Bangalore, 5th January 1912.

I am directed to say that the Government of India have recently had under their consideration the -- desirability of the extended employment of extra-departmental agents in charge of branch post offices.

2. The enclosed statement gives figures showing the agencies by which branch post offices were worked on the 1st July 1911, and the Government of India consider that the employment of schoolmasters on postal duties with small allowances offers considerable advantages. The extra emolument is an attraction, and the additional labour thus thrown upon schoolmasters, while not -- generally involving such an amount of work as to interfere with their educational duties, tends to attach them more closely to their villages. The Government of India are of opinion, therefore, that the principle of employing schoolmasters more extensively on postal --
